Children's Hands-On Arts Festival 2017!

Get set for a weekend exploring the Arts as we gather together for our fifth Children's Hands-on Arts Festival held in downtown Boston!

Friday night kicks off the Arts Festival with a concert by our special guest, Randall Goodgame. Saturday morning is filled with 16 workshop options. Following lunch we will enjoy more from Randall and as well as performances by a few of our workshop instructors to close our the Arts Festival.

Workshops from drama to dance to floral design to culinary creation will entice children ages 3-11 to consider new areas of interest as they grow. Each workshop will provide 20 minutes of presentation by the leaders and 35 minutes of hands-on experience for the children. Workshop leaders have a passion for their area of art and most have professional training in their genre.

Friday Night

Join us for the kick-off of the Arts Festival Friday night with a Slugs and Bugs Live Concert with Randall Goodgame! This is open to everyone whether attending the workshops on Saturday or not, so invite all your friends, neighbors, and families! A freewill offering will be taken.

Parents

Parents should attend workshops with their 3-6 year olds. Parents of children who are elementary age can also attend workshops with their sons and daughters or they can take advantage of a refreshment and lounge area provided in the lobby while waiting to escort their children from workshop to workshop.

Saturday Lunch

A delicious kid-and-parent friendly lunch can be purchased for $5 per person at Park Street or families can pack their own lunch.

Special Guest: Randall Goodgame!

Randall Goodgame (former "Silly Song" writer for VEGGIETALES) is the driving force behind Slugs and Bugs. Randall has brought his faith based Slugs and Bugs Live concerts into 30 states and Canada. Slugs and Bugs videos have surpassed 1.13 million views on YouTube! Randall strives to infuse joyful creativity into his Slugs & Bugs music to delight your whole family. Age-appropriate life and faith encouragements are woven throughout the concert, and Randall's heart is for each child to leave with a deeper understanding of God's love for them. Slugs and Bugs music rollicks from bluegrass to Dixieland to folk-pop to arena rock with songs you'll be glad you remember long after the concert is over.
